

Thousands Join Walkouts at Oil Refineries

Union Officials Promise To Halt Operations In Rich Texas Area

(Continued from Page One) attempting to enlist the allegiance of workers at the Standard Oil Co.'s Whiting, Ind., plant. The standard employees, numbering nearly 6,000, belong to the Independent Standard Employees association, whose leaders have issued orders to ignore CIO picket lines.

Other walkouts hit scattered oil plants at Trenton, Mich.; Cabin Creek, W. Va.; Toledo, O.; Indiana Harbor, Ind., and East St. Louis and Lockport, Ill.

Leaders of the CIO United Auto Workers union staged a race against government conciliation officials to set their own house in order and end a 29-day-old strike at the Kelsey-Hayes wheel plant.

The Kelsey-Hayes walkout has cut off supplies to the Ford Motor Co. and forced the layoff of 50,000 Ford workers.

Ship construction was halted at the Brooklyn and Staten Island yards of the Atlantic basin yesterday when an estimated 3,500 CIO shipbuilders left their jobs. Union officials said the strike was the result of the company's refusal to negotiate "some 400 different grievances" accumulated since last April.

Additional labor strife loomed in an 11-day-walkout which has shut down four key plants of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. as a CIO union attempted to raid the ranks of 10,500 striking "white collar" workers. The work stoppage also has idled 28,000 production employees in seven states.

ARMY POINTS TO DROP TO 70

(Continued from Page One) limited service personnel who never got overseas service to earn discharge point credits will be awarded.

Marshall said the Army expects to release 450,000 men in September, 550,000 in October. Thereafter, he said, the rate will be 70,000 to 80,000 a month.

He said this would keep up until next Spring, when he will reach the point where it will have to be determined what force will be needed for occupation purposes and how many more can be demobilized.

Marshall repeated the assertion made by President Truman yesterday that there is no relationship at this time between the speed of demobilization and future Army needs.

He said it will be next Spring before the occupation needs can be determined accurately, and such needs will not be a factor in demobilization, before that time.

Marshall said that meanwhile all facilities are being devoted to the release of the largest number of men as rapidly as possible. Transportation facilities and trained personnel are the deciding factors at this time, he said.

He took note of congressional protests that overseas veterans are being kept in idleness or assigned menial tasks at domestic bases while awaiting discharge. That situation, Marshall promised, will be cleared up within three or four weeks.

In that length of time demobilization facilities will have reached the point where all men for whom a useful job cannot be found will be released.

"I don't know how many that will be," he said, "but we are not going to keep anyone who is not of use to the Army."

Marshall said this policy might result in release of some troops here who have lower point scores than some veterans still overseas. He said it would be done over the protest of theatre commanders who are responsible for the discipline and morale of their own men. He said that unless it is done, however, he expected "greater fury on this front" than would result from the protests from overseas.

Marshall explained that when Germany collapsed last May, high point long service men in Europe and the Philippines had to remain overseas because lower point men in units marked for Pacific duty were using all the available transportation.

Marshall said the needs for occupation forces are constantly being revised. Only last night, he revealed official word from Gen. Douglas MacArthur that he hopes to be able to handle Japan and Korea with no more than 200,000 regular troops by the end of six months.

Marshall said MacArthur's figure for January 1 is 1,400,000 men. He said Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, commander in the European theatre, still estimates he will need 400,000 troops by the end of next June.

Writer Says British Far More Firm With Japs Than American Forces

Here, a couple of thousand members of an RAF regiment took control of Kowloon from 8,000 Japanese. They did not ask the Japanese to turn in their arms. The British made them strip naked, then made sure that all guns and ammunition were confiscated.

British marines followed the same pattern in occupying Hong Kong itself.

A practical example of the British attitude was the conduct of a press interview with Japanese vice-admiral Ruijaro Fumita.

He didn't have much of importance to say, apart from revealing that Japan's South Pacific fleet for the first few months of war consisted only of a minor torpedo boat and three seaplanes.

But it was enlightening to watch the British public relations officer tell a Japanese guard:

"Tell the admiral to come here. I want to see the admiral right now."

Fumita's hands shook throughout the interview. He answered questions readily. Unlike military and navy leaders with whom I talked in Japan, he did not say he quit fighting only because the emperor ordered him to do so. He said Japan was forced to surrender.

As a final treat, the British have abolished censorship here because the war is over. This is the first uncensored dispatch I've forwarded from abroad without fear of repercussion since 1941.

My only concern is that some American censor might intercept it en route.

GRAND JURY CONSIDERS EIGHT CASES AT SESSION

Eight cases were considered Thursday when the September term of common pleas court grand jury met at the court house.

Instructions were given the jurors Thursday morning before they started study of cases presented by Prosecutor Kenneth M. Robbins.

The jurors are expected to complete their work early in the afternoon.

MARTIAL LAW IMPOSED
SAIGON, French Indo-China, Sept. 20.—The British army proclaimed martial law throughout Indo-China today in a move to head off a threatened uprising by anti-French nationalists.

People don't like to talk about Pin-Worm infection. Sometimes they are too embarrassed to mention the tormenting result of it. And in many cases they have not known the most effective way to deal with this pest that lives inside the human body.

Today, thanks to a special, medical-recognized drug (gentian violet), a highly effective treatment has been made possible. This drug is the active ingredient in P-W, the Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son.

The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms.

If you suspect Pin-Worms in your child or yourself, take one tablet of JAYNE'S P-W right away, and follow the directions. Satisfaction or your money back.

Fifth Fleet Takes Over Patrol Duties Off Japanese Shores

Admiral William F. Halsey, the fleet's famed commander, will rejoin his ships at Pearl Harbor for the last leg of the journey home. He flew to Pearl Harbor from Tokyo.

Admiral John F. Shafroth, commander of battleship squadron 2, will command the armada as far as Pearl Harbor. His flag is flying from the Alabama.

Units of the Third fleet left behind, along with some units of the north Pacific fleet, will join Spruance's Fifth fleet in patrolling Japanese waters. Spruance already has taken over command of naval forces off Japan from Halsey.

MacArthur's headquarters announced that 1,645,000 members—72 per cent—of the Japanese home armies had been demobilized by Sept. 17. The remaining 607,500 were scheduled to be released by Oct. 15. Demobilization was proceeding at the rate of 50,000 men a day.

The newspaper Yomiuri Hochi said a Lieutenant Colonel Akiyama shot himself in the head with a revolver and jumped to his death in the Pacific from a precipice Sept. 15 in the latest of a wave of suicides among Army officers since Japan's surrender.

He was said to have killed himself after watching the demobilization of Japanese troops in Chiba prefecture east of Tokyo.

BIG 5 STUDIES PEACE TREATY WITH FINLAND

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The big five council of foreign ministers opened preliminary discussions today on the drafting of a peace treaty with Finland.

Well-informed sources said proposals for a final settlement with twice-defeated Finland were introduced at this morning's council session, paralleling similar negotiations for treaties with Bulgaria and Romania.

These informants said, however, that the council had run into an immediate snag because of the fact that only Russia and Britain actually were at war with Finland.

The exact date of the airport's conversion to peacetime military use was not reported, but the base is scheduled for deactivation soon. Flight training ended September 11.

WEARY Fliers RESTING AFTER LONG JOURNEY

Airmen Head For Home With Completion Of One-Stop Flight From Japan

"Good Flight"

Giles said the headwinds which disrupted the non-stop schedule were encountered between Nome and Fairbanks in Alaska.

"But all in all, it was a very good flight," he said. We started off in three planes and we arrived in three planes—with all 12 engines working."

LeMay, the ever-present cigar in his mouth the smoked almost a full box on the flight told newsmen that until the planes reached Duluth, Minn., there was some hope that the trip could be completed without stopping before Washington for fuel.

But after Duluth, he said, "we knew it wasn't a smart thing to go on in."

Times Listed

The official flying times for the planes of the three generals was given as follows:

Giles—26 hours, 26 minutes to Chicago, and 2 hours, 16 minutes to Washington, or total flying time of 28 hours, 42 minutes.

LeMay—26 hours, 30 minutes to Chicago, and 2 hours, 18 minutes to Washington, or total of 28 hours, 48 minutes.

O'Donnell—25 hours, 20 minutes to Chicago and 2 hours, 20 minutes to Washington, total of 27 hours, 40 minutes.

LeMay's plane was the last to give up in the non-stop attempt. After Giles and O'Donnell radioed that they would have to land at Chicago, LeMay messaged that he would keep coming. But shortly after 6 p. m., he radioed that he too was having fuel difficulties and would have to go down.

Among the notables who greeted the crewmen was Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, Eighth Air Force commander, who had acted as a sort of "baggage man" for the members of the flight. He arrived here yesterday aboard his own Superfort, bringing along their baggage so they could travel as lightly as possible.

ADMIRAL KING TO BE HONORED ON SEPTEMBER 30

LORAIN, O., Sept. 20—Affairs in Washington has made it necessary for the Lorain County Victory Celebration, originally scheduled for Sunday, October 7, to be advanced one week to Sunday, September 30.

This change was necessary due to the inability of Admiral of the Fleet Ernest J. King to attend on the originally planned date.

All features and activities which include the Admiral King Luncheon, military parade and mammoth display of fireworks have been advanced to the September 30 date.

It is anticipated that 1000 guests will attend the luncheon being given in honor of the Admiral of the Fleet, and that the parade will take three and a half to four hours to pass the reviewing stand. The mammoth display of fireworks will be the largest ever displayed in Lorain County.

FIREMEN FREE WANDERING BULL CAUGHT IN FENCE

"The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence."—At least that is what a certain Circleville bull thought the other day.

The bull was in pasture on the Mount of Praise grounds when he wandered near the fence and stuck his head through to get at the grass on the other side.

When his head got stuck, though, he was really convinced that he would have been better off in his own backyard. No amount of coaxing and pulling could get it out.

The result was that the Circleville firemen, who have been called to get cats down from trees, haul dogs out of sewers, and drive bees out of houses, were called to do another unusual job—getting the bull out of the fence—which they did with the aid of a crowbar.

Judges were Mrs. Harold Pontius, North Pickaway street, Circleville; Miss Geraldine Conrad, home economics instructor in Ashville schools, and Miss Hazel Core, home economics instructor in Circleville schools.

Prize winners and the ribbons won in the various divisions are:

Mrs. Willard Justus, Route 3, Circleville, first prize for apple sauce, pears, raspberries; second prize, pineapple, carrots, tomatoes, corn and tomatoes, mixed pickles, chili sauce; third prize, green beans, corn, greens, corn relish;

Mrs. George Poling, 432 North Court street, first prize, blackberries, strawberries; second prize, beets; third prize, pickles;

Mrs. L. W. Cull, 143 Town street, second prize, blackberries, plums;

Mrs. John Magill, 119 Seyfort avenue, third prize, peaches, cucumber (slices);

Sylvia Ramey, Walnut township school, first prize, plums;

Mrs. F. K. Blair, 342 East Mound street, Circleville, Ohio, first prize, peaches, peas, beets; second prize, apple sauce, cherries, pears, peaches and pears, corn, cucumber (slices), sweet relish;

Mrs. C. D. Lathouse, 324 East Mound street, first prize, stuffed mangoes, sweet relish, watermelon pickle; second prize, bread and butter pickle, vegetable soup mixture;

RICHARD PLUM GETS DISCHARGE FROM SERVICE

Captain Richard E. Plum, holder of the French Croix De Guerre, has returned to Circleville to resume his old occupation in the insurance business here after receiving a discharge from the staff of General Courtney H. Hodges First Army headquarters at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Receiving his discharge under the Army's point system, Capt. Plum returned to his home at 461 North Court street where his wife, Jane, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Plum reside.

Capt. Plum was Signal Supply Officer on Gen. Hodges' staff, and was assigned to the 215th Signal Depot Company during the invasion and operations of the First Army in France and Germany. He and other members of his unit were awarded the French Croix De Guerre for their operation of the depot on the beachhead.

He was also awarded the European theater ribbon with five battle stars for the campaigns of Normandy, Northern France, Ardennes, the Rhineland and Central Germany.

Capt. Plum is a graduate of Miami University at Oxford.

A brother, Ned Plum, also has been discharged. He served 40 months in the South Pacific.

CUBS WIN 4-1 'CLUTCH' GAME

Feller Hurls One-Hitter
To Defeat Tigers,
Tighten Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—History has repeated itself too often for the pennant-chasing Cubs in their unhappy relations with the Cardinals this season but today—just for once—they were glad it did.

Chicago's $100,000 investment, Hank Borowy, beat the Cards, 4 to 1, last night in an exact duplicate of his last victory over them, and there seemed to be legible handwriting on the wall that this might have been the "game of decision" in the stirring "clutch" fight between the clubs.

It was a game the Cardinals couldn't afford to lose because it put them three full games behind with only nine more to play. That means the Cubs could finish with only four victories in their remaining nine games and the Cards would have to win seven of theirs even to gain a tie.

Borowy gained the decision, his ninth since coming to the Cubs from the Yankees. In a wild 10th inning rally which produced three runs. On Sept. 2, in another 10-inning game with the Cards on the same St. Louis battleground, three runs gave Borowy a 4 to 1 victory.

It was a different story for the harried Detroit Tigers in the American League, who saw their lead melt to a single game over the indomitable Washington Senators, as Bobby Feller set them down with just one hit for a 2 to 0 Cleveland victory.

The Tigers, still favorites, nevertheless must face the tough Indians, a team that has beaten them nine times, again today while the Senators play the Yankees at New York. Detroit, with seven games to play, would have to win six of them to clinch the pennant if Washington won all of its remaining five—something that isn't beyond the realm of possibility considering the manner in which the Senators have revived in the stretch.

The Indians, who might have made a race of it themselves had not their manager and spark-plug, Lou Boudreau, gone out with injuries, were ready with their number two pitcher, Allie Reynolds, while the Tigers were forced to rely on Alton Benton, a strict liability in the closing stages of the race because of his "game" leg, which has troubled him since he broke it early in the season.

Feller missed recording his second no-hitter when Jimmy Outlaw looped a lazy single over the infield.

At St. Louis, the Cubs were ready with a lefty, 38-year-old Ray (Pappy) Prim to counter the Cardinal southpaw ace, Harry Brecheen. Both had won 13 games.

It was a jittery Cardinal defense that choked up in the 10th to permit the Cubs to triumph with three runs on only one hit for their fifth win in 19 games with St. Louis. The Cubs had come from behind to tie the score in the ninth on another error, by George Kurowski. In the 10th Tommy Livingston walked and rookie southpaw George Dockins, who had pitched brilliantly, fumbled Bill Schuster's bunt. Borowy followed with a bunt and Dockins threw late to third, filling the bases. Bill Nicholson greeted relief pitcher Kgn Burkhardt with a two-run single after which Burkhardt let in the third run trying to pick Borowy off third.

In other National League games, the Dodgers topped the Giants, 5 to 4, at Brooklyn on homers by Mike Sandlock and Goodwin Rosen, while Boston won a 4 to 0 game behind Johnny Hutchings' tight pitching at Philadelphia.

The Browns strengthened their hold on third place in the American by toppling the Yankees, 6 to 5 and 4 to 3, in two tight 10-inning games at New York. George McQuinn and Vern Stephens got Brownie homers while Aaron Rob-

WIDDOES GLAD OPENER DELAYED

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20—Coach Carroll C. Widdoes today made good use of the extra week of football drills which the cancellation of the Iowa Seahawk game provided.

However the Buckeyes got a break when they gained the extra week of practice. Injuries have put Widdoes and his eleven in a bad spot this week.

At the top of the Ohio State list is Capt. Bill Hackett, ace 180-pound guard from London, O., who is suffering from a knee injury received last January.

The three Buckeyes who were injured yesterday were Matt Brown from Canton with a twisted ankle, End Thomas Watson of Urbana, O., with a hand injury which required stitches after End Don Nicoll of Poland, O., stepped on it during practice, and Guard Jack Rose with a sprained right ankle.

Other casualties include End Ward Wright of Huntington, W. Va., with a right ankle injury; Tackle Charles Fazio of Marion, O., with an arm injury; Center Jack Lininger of Van Wert, O., with a spine injury; Reserve Tackle Paul Maltinsky of Wheeling, W. Va., with a bruised shoulder; and reserve backs Ira Blackwell of Columbus and Jim Bollas of Warren, O., with various bruises and bumps.

Inson, Oscar Grimes and George Stirnheis hit for the route for New York.

Boston topped the visiting Athletics twice, 11 to 10 and 3 to 0, with rookie Otis Clark pitching the shutout.

TIGERS ALL SET FOR SCO TEST AT HILLSBORO

Starting Lineup May Be Changed For League
Game Friday Night

Circleville high school Tigers Thursday were ready for their first road trip of the season and their first 1945 South Central Ohio league football game.

Preparations for the game at Hillsboro Friday night were to be wound up Thursday afternoon with a light drill on the CHS field. The drill marks the end of a week's hard work by the Tigers.

Scrimmage was held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Several new plays were worked on by the Tigers under the direction of Coaches Russell Palm and Steve Brudzinski.

Little is known about Hillsboro except that the team lost to Dayton Strivers, 27-6 last Friday while the Tigers were edging Columbus Holy Rosary 7-6 with a thrilling last minute touchdown and extra point.

Hillsboro accounts of the game said that a green team represented the school in the first contest, nine of the eleven men in the starting lineup starting for the first time.

The item goes on to state that the material at Hillsboro is regarded as the best in several years. Last week's lineup included McMullen, Lukens, Rhodes, Ford, D. Miller, R. Miller, Osman, Dixon, Jenike and Yeager.

Circleville starters will be chosen en from the same group of boys as last week, but there may be some changes in the first eleven. Both line and backfield changes have been indicated during the practice sessions this week.

In Wednesday evening drills Jack Stout was in the backfield with Jack Hennis, Leonard Hill and "Skeet" Smallwood. Other backs also got a chance to show what they could do with new plays handed out this week.

On the line Ed Strawser was working at the left end instead of Galand Valentine who was absent from practice. Earl Palm was working as a guard with Eugene Richardson at center, instead of his regular guard post.

An effort is being made to get the strongest possible starting lineup ready, plus capable reserves for every position. The starting lineup will not be announced until just before game time.

With the first game jitters out of the way the Tigers are expected to play a better offensive and defensive game this week. The item goes on to state that the Tigers are ready for their first road trip of the season and their first 1945 South Central Ohio league football game.

Preparations for the game at Hillsboro Friday night were to be wound up Thursday afternoon with a light drill on the CHS field. The drill marks the end of a week's hard work by the Tigers.

Scrimmage was held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Several new plays were worked on by the Tigers under the direction of Coaches Russell Palm and Steve Brudzinski.

Little is known about Hillsboro except that the team lost to Dayton Strivers, 27-6 last Friday while the Tigers were edging Columbus Holy Rosary 7-6 with a thrilling last minute touchdown and extra point.

Hillsboro accounts of the game said that a green team represented the school in the first contest, nine of the eleven men in the starting lineup starting for the first time.

The item goes on to state that the material at Hillsboro is regarded as the best in several years. Last week's lineup included McMullen, Lukens, Rhodes, Ford, D. Miller, R. Miller, Osman, Dixon, Jenike and Yeager.

CUBS WIN 4-1 'CLUTCH' GAME

Feller Hurls One-Hitter
To Defeat Tigers,
Tighten Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—History has repeated itself too often for the pennant-chasing Cubs in their unhappy relations with the Cardinals this season but today—just for once—they were glad it did.

Chicago's $100,000 investment, Hank Borowy, beat the Cards, 4 to 1, last night in an exact duplicate of his last victory over them, and there seemed to be legible handwriting on the wall that this might have been the "game of decision" in the stirring "clutch" fight between the clubs.

It was a game the Cardinals couldn't afford to lose because it put them three full games behind with only nine more to play. That means the Cubs could finish with only four victories in their remaining nine games and the Cards would have to win seven of theirs even to gain a tie.

Borowy gained the decision, his ninth since coming to the Cubs from the Yankees, in a wild 10th inning rally which produced three runs. On Sept. 2, in another 10-inning game with the Cards on the same St. Louis battleground, three runs gave Borowy a 4 to 1 victory.

It was a different story for the harried Detroit Tigers in the American League, who saw their lead melt to a single game over the indomitable Washington Senators, as Bobby Feller set them down with just one hit for a 2 to 0 Cleveland victory.

The Tigers, still favorites, nevertheless must face the tough Indians, a team that has beaten them nine times, again today while the Senators play the Yankees at New York. Detroit, with seven games to play, would have to win six of them to clinch the pennant if Washington won all of its remaining five—something that isn't beyond the realm of possibility considering the manner in which the Senators have revived in the stretch.

The Indians, who might have made a race of it themselves had not their manager and spark-plug, Lou Boudreau, gone out with injuries, were ready with their number two pitcher, Allie Reynolds, while the Tigers were forced to rely on Alton Benton, a strict liability in the closing stages of the race because of his "game" leg, which has troubled him since he broke it early in the season.

Feller missed recording his second no-hitter when Jimmy Outlaw looped a lazy single over the infield in the fifth.

At St. Louis, the Cubs were ready with a lefty, 35-year-old Ray (Pappy) Prim to counter the Cardinal southpaw ace, Harry Brecheen. Both won 13 games.

It was a jittery Cardinal defense that shook up in the 10th to permit the Cubs to triumph with three runs on only one hit for their fifth win in 19 games with St. Louis. The Cubs had come from behind to tie the score in the ninth on another error by George Kurowski. In the 10th Tommy Livingston walked and rookie southpaw George Dockins, who had pitched brilliantly, fumbled Bill Schuster's bunt. Borowy followed with a bunt and Dockins threw late to third, filling the bases. Bill Nicholson greeted relief pitcher Ken Burkhardt with a two-run single after which Burkhardt let in the third run trying to pick Borowy off third.

In other National League games, the Dodgers topped the Giants, 5 to 4, at Brooklyn on homers by Mike Sandlock and Goodwin Rosen, while Boston won a 4 to 0 game behind Johnny Hutchings' tight pitching at Philadelphia.

The Browns strengthened their hold on third place in the American by toppling the Yankees, 6 to 5 and 4 to 3, in two tight 10-inning games at New York. George McQuinn and Vern Stephens got Brownie homers while Aaron Rob-

WIDDOES GLAD OPENER DELAYED

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20—Coach Carroll C. Widdoes today made good use of the extra week of football drills which the cancellation of the Iowa Seahawk game provided.

However the Buckeyes got a break when they gained the extra week of practice. Injuries have put Widdoes and his eleven in a bad spot this week.

At the top of the Ohio State list is Capt. Bill Hackett, ace 180-pound guard from London, O., who is suffering from a knee injury received last January.

The three Buckeyes who were injured yesterday were Matt Brown from Canton with a twisted ankle, End Thomas Watson of Urbana, O., with a hand injury, which required stitches after End Don Nicolls of Poland, O., stepped on it during practice, and Guard Jack Roe with a sprained right ankle.

Other casualties include End Ward Wright of Huntington, W. Va., with a right ankle injury; Tackle Charles Fazio of Marion, O., with an arm injury; Center Jack Lininger of Van Wert, O., with a spine injury; Reserve Tackle Paul Matlinsky of Wheeling, W. Va., with a bruised shoulder; and reserve backs Ira Blackwell of Columbus and Jim Bollas of Warren, O., with various bruises and bumps.

At St. Louis, the Cubs were ready with a lefty, 35-year-old Ray (Pappy) Prim to counter the Cardinal southpaw ace, Harry Brecheen. Both won 13 games.

FOREIGN RELATIONS

WE Americans seem to be disposing of the Japanese menace satisfactorily. We are licking that insolent and ambitious nation so thoroughly, and trimming her military and economic wings so effectively, that with a realistic policy we should be able to keep the Japs on good behavior for at least another half-century.

The next important foreign problem is our British policy. As friends and allies, we have finished the war satisfactorily as far as military affairs are concerned. But the future fate of Britain, and American relations with that nation, are a big problem. Britain seems to be financially down to her last shoestring, with an immense war debt and apparently no credit except what she can wangle from Uncle Sam and Canada. The latter country is also rather deeply in debt, but has more resources, actual or potential, than Britain.

The debt, as it happens, is owed mostly to our own country. We have fought our common enemies with money as well as men, because our people have been realistic enough to see that if Britain went down, we would be left in a very serious predicament. And joined with this military realism was remembrance of our common language, literature and traditions, still cherished by most of our American stock, and valued also by millions from the European continent. So it is natural, and evident, that as a nation we are inclined to stand by Britain, ignoring most of her debt to us, and doing what we can to get her on her feet again.

FAMOUS COURT-MARTIAL

IF Admiral Kimmel and Gen. Short are court-martialed as a result of the Pearl Harbor report, their trial will outshine what was heretofore the most sensational court-martial in American history.

It centered around Gen. Fitz-John Porter, a brilliant commander on the Northern side in the Civil War. The second battle of Bull Run, at the end of August, 1862, resulted badly for the Northern side. Gen. John Pope, the army commander, a blustering and pompous officer of doubtful ability, blamed Porter, charging him with disobedience. A court-martial found him guilty, and he was dismissed from the service. Porter, feeling that he had been treated unjustly, kept appealing for a re-hearing. Finally he succeeded in interesting Gen. Grant, not during his presidency but afterwards. The case was re-opened in 1882, and Porter was completely vindicated.

This conspicuous error may make army and navy boards go slow before they undertake more such courts-martial.

Nearly everyone will hope for Tojo's recovery from his attempt at suicide, so that he may not escape hanging.

Come to think of it, how long since you've seen an old-fashioned tramp?

• WASHINGTON—Commercial passenger flights from coast to coast in seven to eight hours, are predicted for the near future by airline experts. Such trips may be made possible by huge, long-range transport planes developed under war impetus for the Army Transport Command and the Naval Air Transport Service.

Lockheed, Boeing, Consolidated and others are in the race to get their planes into peace-time airline service as soon as possible.

TWA recently conducted experiments for the Air Transport Command in the coast-to-coast flights using big Lockheed Constellations for three weeks over the 2,500-mile route between Washington and San Francisco.

The best time achieved was eight hours and 27 minutes at an average speed of 289 miles an hour. Back in April, 1944, a Constellation flew from Burbank, Calif., to Washington in just three minutes less than seven hours.

Both this flight and the more recent ones, offering a preview of things to come, were non-stop.

Douglas is entering the race with its brand new Globemaster, reported to be the largest land plane in the world. It weighs 77 tons and can carry a 30-ton pay load. Its speed is said to be more than 300 miles an hour.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—This is it—the post-war showdown of the new power of the unions. Behind the initial strides bestirring in Detroit and spreading through the country is a general uprising for a 20 to 30 per cent wage increase. All the big unions of the country are in on it, the lumbermen of the northwest, steel, rubber, the AFL's international machinists, largest of the AFL unions, and even the moderate well-run rail-road brotherhoods. The CIO auto workers and radicals are simply front-running for a cleverly planned and well financed campaign of all unionization to up the take. AFL's mild William Green, for instance, told the Dubinsky garment workers he though all labor should have just about this proposed wage advance.

Strange as it may sound in an inflation-scared administration, high official backing has heightened the national dilemma—but not backing by Mr. Truman. My inside information shows conclusively the President, while favorable in general to a high-wage, high-price policy, knew little of the developing ins and outs of this situation.

He certainly did nothing inside, or out, to encourage it. His director of economic stabilization, William H. Davis, however, held an unfortunate off-the-record press conference about two weeks back, which was practically an invitation to the unions to demand even a greater increase. While he did not permit direct quotation, the press unanimously reported he thought wages could be increased 50 per cent "without increasing the price of manufactured goods." Nearly everyone spoofed this incredible assertion as pretty political poppycock, except the union leaders, who seized it as a handy handle.

That much is known. If Mr. Truman wants all the facts about sub rosa trouble-making, he should call each member of the war labor board on the carpet and ask if he has talked lately to union leaders, advising them that now is the time to go after wage increases.

The board has become a helpless but not hopeless nonentity. Its powers are doubtful. New labor Secretary Schwellenbach has been sending no cases to it, and his disregard of it has become almost an established official position. The board in turn decided to consider nothing, except upon request of both employers and employees, which limited its power in a situation such as is arising to practically zero.

Before these developments, the unions, particularly the radicals, had been campaigning exclusively on the unemployment line. All their propaganda focused upon getting legislation from congress. It is true, the campaign was not proceeding satisfactorily and failed to generate much public enthusiasm, although Mr. Truman was behind it. The sudden switch back to the line of wage increases, strikes and shorter hours (the miners' John L. Lewis is especially hitting this latter theme for his wage increases) caught the administration with its shoes off. Schwellenbach, for days after the start, was unable to move.

His initial publicity on assuming his post had been better than excellent. Indeed, Mr. Truman, himself, got off to a good start with the unions. Neither is popular or unpopular among the general wage earners, but both are favorably regarded.

Schwellenbach had planned a general industrial-labor conference to meet the strike-wage-price condition everyone

DIET AND HEALTH

An Obscure Illness

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

HERE is little known at present concerning either the cause, or the things which influence the disease known as leukemia. This is a disorder in which there is a great increase in the number of white cells in the blood.

There has been no treatment discovered as yet which will cure this condition, but, according to Doctors Asa B. Friedmann and Leo M. Meyer of New York, the injection of whole blood into a vein, the use of various drugs and X-ray treatments, if properly employed, may check the progress of the disease and prolong life.

X-ray Treatment

In giving the X-ray treatments, the dosage should be as small as is possible still to bring relief of symptoms. If too much X-ray is given, the white blood cells become resistant to the rays and good results are not obtained.

There are, in general, two kinds of leukemia. One is called the myelogenous and the other lymphatic.

A careful examination of the blood is necessary to make a diagnosis as to which type is present. The lymphatic type is, in general, more severe and progresses much more rapidly.

In more than one hundred patients with leukemia, about half had the myelogenous type. The disease seems to affect males and females equally as often. The average age at the onset of the myelogenous leukemia is about 36 years. In the acute type this disease runs a rapid course. In the chronic myelogenous leukemia, the average duration of the illness is about 3½ to 4 years.

Lymphatic leukemia occurs twice as often in males as in females.

In giving the X-ray treatments for these conditions, the various parts of the body are exposed to the rays, such as the area over the spleen in the left upper part of the abdomen, lymph glands and various other parts of the body and the bones.

If there is pain in certain parts of the body due to the collection of white blood cells in the tissue, the X-ray treatments will lessen the pain.

Many studies of leukemia are going on at the present time. It is to be hoped that sooner or later the cause for this condition may be found so that some order of treatment may be worked out which will prevent or cure it.

Such trips may be made possible by huge, long-range transport planes developed under war impetus for the Army Transport Command and the Naval Air Transport Service.

Lockheed, Boeing, Consolidated and others are in the race to get their planes into peace-time airline service as soon as possible. TWA recently conducted experiments for the Air Transport Command in the coast-to-coast flights using big Lockheed Constellations for three weeks over the 2,500-mile route between Washington and San Francisco.

The best time achieved was eight hours and 37 minutes at an average speed of 289 miles an hour. Back in April, 1944, a Constellation flew from Burbank, Calif., to Washington in just three minutes less than seven hours.

Both this flight and the more recent ones, offering a preview of things to come, were non-stop. Douglas is entering the race with its brand new Globemaster, reported to be the largest land plane in the world. It weighs 77 tons and can carry a 30-ton pay load. Its speed is said to be more than 300 miles an hour.

OFFICERS FAMILIAR with Army needs envision a permanent army of 500,000 men, although there is some doubt whether many troops can be obtained without conscription, even though 500,000 would be little more than a housekeeping force. While reserve officers are willing to serve in far greater numbers than are needed after the war, re-enlistments of men are expected to be few. Probably 500,000 enlisted men couldn't be coaxed into the Army without some improvement in their present status.

The greatest weakness of the United States Army is said to be its lack of future promise for those who would make it a career. For instance, most other nations give corporals and sergeants more pay and considerably more prerogatives than the United States does.

Improvement in this respect for non-commissioned officers, experts think, would encourage men to enlist in the ranks, particularly if a non-com could hope to stay in service and raise a family. Privates then could have some hope of working their way up to corporals and sergeants and still make a living for a family.

• LABOR CIRCLES are betting on the AFL to win a bitter fight with CIO over which group will represent this country in the International Labor Office meeting in Paris next month. President Truman names the delegates.

Capital observers point out that the AFL was one of the original Truman-for-Vice President groups at the Chicago Democratic convention and that this should have endeared the older labor organization to the president. CIO, on the other hand, supported Wallace.

Next thought: The ILO appointment has to clear through Secretary of State Byrnes and the CIO bitterly fought Byrnes' candidacy for the vice presidential nomination last year.

• OWI'S DEMISE started capital newsmen recalling many of the unprinted, undercover scraps between federal agencies during the information group's stormy existence.

One of the most intense battles, although short-lived, was the one which developed when newspaper correspondents fought OWI Director Elmer Davis' proposal to move his headquarters a couple of miles across town from the war agency center.

Newsmen balked at having OWI placed so far away from the sources of news. Moreover, they won their fight when the then WFB boss, Donald M. Nelson, joined their cause. Nelson refused to grant the necessary telephone cables and other materials which OWI needed to set up its proposed new shop.

An Obscure Illness

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

HERE is little known at present concerning either the cause or the things which influence the disease known as leukemia. This is a disorder in which there is a great increase in the number of white cells in the blood.

There has been no treatment as yet which will cure this condition, but, according to Doctors Asa B. Friedmann and Leo M. Meyer of New York, the injection of whole blood into a vein, the use of various drugs and X-ray treatments, if properly employed, may check the progress of the disease and prolong life.

X-ray Treatment
In giving the X-ray treatments, the dosage should be as small as is possible still to bring relief of symptoms. If too much X-ray is given, the white blood cells become resistant to the rays and good results are not obtained.

There are, in general, two kinds of leukemia. One is called the myelogenous and the other lymphatic. A careful examination of the blood is necessary to make a diagnosis as to which type is present. The lymphatic type is, in general, more severe and progresses much more rapidly.

In more than one hundred patients with leukemia, about half had the myelogenous type. The disease seems to affect males and females equally as often. The average age at the onset of the myelogenous leukemia is about 36 years. In the acute type this disease runs a rapid course. In the chronic myelogenous leukemia, the average duration of the illness is about 3½ to 4 years.

Lymphatic leukemia occurs twice as often in males as in females. In giving the X-ray treatments for these conditions, the various parts of the body are exposed to the rays, such as the area over the spleen, in the left upper part of the abdomen, lymph glands and various other parts of the body and the bones.

If there is pain in certain parts of the body due to the collection of white blood cells in the tissue, the X-ray treatments will lessen the pain.

Many studies of leukemia are going on at the present time. It is to be hoped that sooner or later the cause for this condition may be found so that some order of treatment may be worked out which will prevent or cure it.

"You'll not have to worry about it now."

"I'll surely miss that puppy," he declared.

Not me, Sandra retorted. Not Belinda. Not the cowboys, Estela or Brody. But a little Irish setter puppy. That too-frequent sensation of self-pitying tears swept over her. To conquer them she stood up and looked at herself in the mirror above the writing desk.

The boy diverted her praise to the proper channel. "Brody really thought of it. He knew about those puppies, so away we dashed. To the Bermuda Ranch." He grinned, surprising Sandra, as she invariably was surprised when his austerity melted.

"Dash it all, I'd like to have had all those puppies. We had a desperate time trying to make up our minds. But we finally decided on the one called Tex. He has one tiny white star right here." Spenser tapped his forehead. "So, he is named Texas, after the Lone Star State, y'know," he explained as if he were the American and Sandra the visitor.

"How did Belinda happen to see him?"

"She came home early and—"

Sandra interrupted. "She isn't sick, is she?"

"Oh, no." He put his head against the yellow leather davenport and stretched to his full length. "There was some sort of teachers' meeting, so the pupils were dismissed. We had left Tex on the service porch. Estela had promised to watch him while I was at the corral. I intended to hide him in my bathroom just before I expected Belinda home."

"But," he continued, "dash it all, when I came back to move the puppy she was holding him."

"What did you do?"

"I told her it was my pup. She said she was only holding him. I said I didn't want her to hold him. Actually," he said with delight, "I thought she was going to strike me. She put Tex down—not at first, but finally and, Sandra, you should have seen her eyes. They were filled with lightning. So that's how I found out she likes the dog."

"I'm glad she'll soon know it is hers. That was a painful test."

"I'd like to keep him for myself." A moment later he relieved Sandra's fear that he might be that selfish. "I shan't, though. It wouldn't be cricket. Anyway, I'll get to play with him almost as if he were my very own."

The red-haired woman suddenly remembered. "Only on weekends, dear. I made arrangements for you to enter Hudson's. You said you wanted me to."

"I'm dressed."

Bravely Sandra surged right into the room and unclamped them to demand of Sandra: "What do you want with me?"

Without speaking Sandra opened the box and slid the dress over the child's dark head. It was a shirtwaist dress of tan and green plaid, with a round collar of starched white plique. Around the hips the skirt was smooth, with an adult closeness, then flared into pleats.

Sandra noted thankfully that the length was right. She noted also that Belinda's eyes no longer were downcast. Sandra counted very slowly to 50. When she re-entered, Belinda stood motionless, in a little white slip. Her arms hung at her sides; her eyes were downcast.

Without speaking Sandra opened the box and slid the

CHINESE WOMEN SUBJECT OF TALK BY MRS. KINDLER

Mrs. George Barnes, South Court street, president, was in charge of the meeting of Group A of the Presbyterian church, Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Lemuel Weldon was hostess at her home, West Union street.

Treasurer's report was read by Miss Martha Dresbach and Miss Mary Hulse led the devotions. During the business meeting, the program for the year was reviewed.

"Chinese Women" was the subject of the talk given by Mrs. Walter Kindler, guest speaker for the afternoon. Mrs. Kindler, told of the manners and customs of the women of China and of their complete obedience to the men of the home. Mrs. Kindler said however, that the number of Chinese women who have gained prominence in the world of literature, education and politics attests to their ability to overcome difficulties.

Mrs. Weldon served refreshments to 10 members of the group and the guest, Mrs. Kindler.

Mrs. H. B. Given will entertain the group at her home, South Court street, October 17.

Scout Family Picnic Will Be Held Sunday At Ted Lewis Park

Annual Boy Scout family picnic of the Pickaway district will be held Sunday in Ted Lewis Park.

The program will start at 3 p. m. (EWT) and is scheduled to end before 8 p. m., so that all who wish may attend the union church services being held each Sunday night.

The first event will be a knot tying contest with all troops participating. Each Scout must be able to tie any one of the following knots: square, figure eight, fisherman's, clove hitch, bowline, slip, timber hitch, two half hitches, miler and sheet bend. Each troop must furnish its own ropes with tags for each knot firmly attached to the center of the ropes and a Scout staff. Troops should use tenderfoot Scouts first, then second and first Scouts if there are not enough tenderfoot Scouts.

The second event will be distance and height judging with each troop invited to participate.

The third event on the program is firemaking. As many entries from each troop as desired will participate. Wood will be furnished.

A picnic supper will be served about 6:30 p. m. Each Scout family will provide picnic basket of food for the supper.

Following the supper a court of honor will be held. Several Scouts are scheduled to be advanced during the program. An out-of-town speaker has been promised by Scout leaders.

The program will close with the Scoutmaster's benediction.

The event is being planned by Leonard Lytle and John P. Moore, chairman and assistant chairman, of the camping and activities committee of the Pickaway Boy Scout district.
